

Capitol Petroleum Company

A PRODUCING DIVIDEND PAYING COMPANY.
THE LATEST INFORMATION PERTAINING TO THE TAMICO, MEXICO WELL

The latest report from Mexico states that Well No. 2 is now flowing nearly 3,000 barrels per day, and nothing less than a 10,000 or a 25,000 barrel well is expected. The Mexico production is increasing, now being over one and one-half million barrels per day. Mexico has an undying fame for its many spectacular wells, and for output of oil to the well holds the record. In March, 1918, the twenty producing wells in Mexico were rated to yield 600,000 barrels daily, an average of 30,000 barrels per day for each well.

From 1901 to 1918 inclusive, a total of 285,910,728 barrels was produced, amounting from 10,000 barrels in the first year to over 62,000,000 in the latter. The republic of Mexico, now ranks second in the production of petroleum of the world, writes C. W. Hamilton, president of the American Chamber of Commerce of Tampico. Undoubtedly, the future of the Mexican oil fields holds great promise. Many companies are starting operations in various parts of the country along the Gulf Coast, and with the completion of the pipe lines and terminals now in construction, it is safe to assume that Mexico will produce and export more than 80,000,000 barrels of oil in 1919. The Mexican Petroleum Company just recently closed a contract with the U. S. Government for 500,000 barrels of oil at $1.15 per barrel. If this well (Capitol No. 2) should net us $1.00 per barrel or $10,000.00 per day, it would make our stock worth (based on 7 per year earnings) five dollars and twenty-one cents ($5.21) per share. Figure it out for yourself.

I am advised that Capitol Petroleum Mid-Continent holdings are bringing in from two to four wells a month and five pumping stations working, the production from this district is sufficient to pay the dividends declared by the company every three months. NOW is the time to buy Capitol Petroleum Stock at $1.00 per share. Many times we have heard the remark, "I wish I had bought Capitol Petroleum stock sooner." I predict that in no distant future you will be saying, "I wish I had bought Capitol Petroleum when I could have bought it for $1.00 per share." Be on the safe side. Buy NOW. Later may be TOO LATE for the present price. You never can tell what one day may bring forth. A BIG WELL will make a BIG DIFFERENCE.

PRESENT OFFERING OF STOCK, 100,000 SHARES AT $1.00 PER SHARE.

Let's put our money together what says you, and operate something? We need shoe stores, banks, hardware, department ladies' ready-to-wear and gentle furnishing goods stores, more grocery stores and meat markets. In union there is strength and to grow stronger we must learn to lift ourselves by our own boot straps. Place a few dollars together by organizing and in a few years watch the results.

MANY HALLOWEEN JOY MAKERS DUCKED IN DRENCHING RAIN—NUMBERS FLEE FOR SHELTER CUT OFF FROM HOME BY FLOODED STREETS AND GULLIES.

The noisy participants sharing the fun and frolic of Halloween night received an old fashioned ducking last Friday night.

The heavy clouds that gathered early in the night did not deter the aspiration of those bent upon reviewing and taking part in the devilry of Halloween night. Some managed to reach the scene of fun and jubilation while others failing to brave the threatening clouds that hung over head acted wisely by remaining at home.

However, the fearless who stormed the streets and avenues in quest of pleasure in their attempt "to beat it" home" before the rain fell, were either ducked, drenched or baptized.

Many were held under sheds and awnings until the wee hours of the morning.

The Halloween entertainment under the supervision of Mrs. A. L. Gibson, did not materialize on account of Mrs. Gibson being prevented from leaving home by the heavy down pour.

The attraction was to have been featured with Halloween colors, old witches, goblins, etc. Quite a number of early birds arrived at the church and were penned in by the rain and accompanying flood. The streets reached their flood stage and remained until a late hour. When the water in the streets receded, rheumatic limbs and stiff joints were given the "once over" before the final dash for home which required snap and speed were essential Friday snap and speed were essential Friday night.

You'll enjoy the Green Parrot.
